

DIAZ WELCOMES ROOT

President of Mexico Gives Cordial Greeting to Secretary.

CHEERED IN STREETS

May Demonstrations of Popular Enthusiasm Attend Reception of Visitor to Capital—Both President Diaz As Well As Senator Root Make Short Speeches.

Mexico City, via Galveston, Texas, Oct. 3.—Elihu Root, Secretary of State of the United States, was received by President Diaz in the Hall of Ambassadors in the National Palace in the presence of all the members of the Mexican Cabinet.

The American Cabinet officer was presented to the President of Mexico by Ignacio Mariscal, the Foreign Minister, and the meeting between the two statesmen was most cordial. Mr. Root said he was delighted to meet the man who had made Mexico one of the foremost of Latin-American countries, and he hoped for a continuance of the good results arising today from the cordial relations between the United States and Mexico.

The expressions of the American officer were received with cordial approval by President Diaz, who replied that Mr. Root's zealous work for a better understanding between the United States and Latin America was well known and duly appreciated, and he welcomed the Secretary in the name of the Mexican nation.

Mr. Root was then presented individually to each member of the Cabinet, who all spoke words of greeting and good will.

Mr. Root was accompanied from Chapultepec to the national palace by David E. Thompson, the American Ambassador to Mexico. The trip was made in an automobile and the party was received with cheers by crowds gathered in the streets along the route.

Ferryboat Ran Wild.

New York, Oct. 3.—The ferryboat Rochester of the West Shore Line, plying between the foot of Desbrosses street, Manhattan, and the West Shore station at Weehawken, sailed from the Weehawken moorings without its captain.

After wavering a zigzag course across the river the ferryboat crashed at full speed broadside into an empty New York Central barge moored in a slip at West Thirty-sixth street. Ulysses Bolin of 1397 Myrtle avenue Brooklyn, one of thirty-odd passengers on the boat at the time, was caught under the weight of the barge as it was lifted over the forward apron of the ferryboat and was seriously hurt.

President in Iowa.

Keokuk, Iowa, Oct. 3.—Declaring that his programme for the prosecution of large moneyed interests was only a contributory cause and not mainly responsible for any business depression in the country, but that in any event he would not retreat from the campaign he had begun, President Roosevelt addressed an immense throng here at the beginning of his Mississippi River trip. One sentence especially caught the crowd. It was—

"If righteousness conflicts with the fancied needs of business then the latter must go to the wall."

Airship Flies Seven Hours.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 2.—Count Zeppelin made a most successful flight in his airship. He was aloft for seven hours in all. The machine responded with splendid results to the will of the pilot.

It came down on its voyage to take on board a representative of the Ministry of War.

Conference of War Ministers.

Tokio, Japan, Oct. 1.—Secretary of war, Viscount Teruchi, Minister of war, passed two hours informally discussing relations between the United States and Japan.

It is possible their conference will bear fruit in formal negotiations between the two governments. The two War Ministers are close friends.

Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the several schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has the DADON OF HONESTY on every bottle-wraper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodical pains, disordered liver, catarrhal, pelvic drain, dragging-down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks dancing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or the derangement of the feminine organs, you can not do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examinations and treatments of the family physician can be avoided and a thorough course of successful treatment carried out in the privacy of the home.

"Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, contains no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription"; it will not perform miracles; it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health in most weaknesses and ailments peculiarly incident to women as any medicine can. It must be given a fair chance by perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time.

You can't afford to neglect a general program as a substitute for this remedy of a woman's condition.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guaranteed as strictly secret, and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic. Easy to take as candy.

THE DISCOVERY OF QUININE.

One of the Most Useful Medicines, It is Much Abused by Many.

It is to be assumed that every one in the civilized world has taken a dose of quinine at some time or other. It is the universal drug. Its value is unappreciated by the masses, who use it only for colds and fevers. As a tonic it is unsurpassed. As an alternative it has no equal in the materia medica. A distinguished surgeon said: "If I wanted to ferment a barrel of cabbage in less time than any one else could I would put in it an ounce of an ounce of quinine. A little quinine in the disordered stomach acts just about as it would in the cabbage. It hastens the assimilation of the food and restores the normal conditions."

The habitual user of quinine, however, becomes a slave to the drug and thus derives little benefit from it. Men with malaria eat it by the ounce and still retain the malaria. The world is full of quinine fiends, who pour a spoonful into the palm of one hand and lick it down without a grimace. They are known to chew cinchona bark as if it were gum. Others, not habituated, must take two grains or ten in a gelatine capsule. Before capsules were invented it was taken in molasses, and the chances are that the molasses effected the cure. Too much quinine is almost as bad as too much calomel.

The world is indebted to Louis XIV for the general introduction of quinine. In France and Italy physicians who prescribed its use were prosecuted. Protestants altogether repudiated it. Robert Talbot, an Englishman, cured the dauphin with it, and Louis le Grand was induced to buy the secret. He was the only king that ever embarked in the drug business.

There are several pretty romances connected with the discovery of "kina," as the native Indians of Peru called the cinchona trees from which quinine is derived. The drug has had a lot of names—quinine, cinchona, coultess' powder, Jesuit's bark, Cardinal de Lugo's powder, Peruvian bark, China bark, quina, quinquina, olchona bark, etc., and the pronunciation of the word "quinine" appears to be a matter of geography—kwi-nine, kwe-noon, kin-nine, keen-noon, or kin-noon—take your choice.

The discovery of cinchona bark is enveloped in mystery. The wife of the Spanish Viceroy in Peru was Countess Chinchon. She was cured of an intermittent fever by drinking an infusion of the bark, introduced in Madrid and bestowed her name upon it—Chinchona. We have corrupted this into cinchona. That's one story. Jesuit missionaries, who were accustomed to taste the bark of every tree they hewed down, discovered the precious febrifuge. A third is that certain animals while in fever happened to gnaw the bark of the cinchona tree and were cured. A fourth is that some persons suffering with fever drank copiously of a pool of water in which some fallen cinchona trees had long been soaking, charging the water with the medicinal principle. Their speedy cure led to an investigation which discovered quinine.

A strange fact in this connection is that quinine is not used as medicine in the practice of the native physicians of Peru, Ecuador or Colombia. The Indians did not even know of its existence until enlightened by the Spaniards about 250 years ago.

Windows of Celluloid.

One of the many uses to which celluloid is put is in supplying window lights for the curtains of automobile tops. Celluloid is made in sheets of extreme thinness, down to a thickness of only five one-thousandths of an inch, and such sheets of celluloid can be rolled up as readily and closely as sheets of paper. From sheets of transparent celluloid pieces are cut of the sizes required for the windows and when these have been set in place they can be rolled up with the curtain, like any other part of it.

While the window of celluloid can thus be readily rolled up it is liable to be dented or crumpled, as a roll of paper would be, if crushed, and so celluloid is not a perfect material for this use, but it appears to be the best that has yet been found.
